

OSI Systems Receives $90 Million in RF Communication Product Orders From U.S. Government Customers

Sep 16, 2026

HAWTHORNE, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Sep. 16, 2026-- OSI Systems, Inc. (the "Company" or "OSI Systems") (NASDAQ: OSIS) today announced that its Security division has received orders totaling approximately $90 million from U.S. Government customers for radio frequency (RF) communication products supporting a range of distinct applications, including advanced Very Low Frequency (VLF) communication systems and critical high frequency transmission products, along with related support services. Leveraging proven production-ready RF based technologies, the awards support ongoing efforts to modernize key communication infrastructure while improving performance, reliability, and lifecycle sustainment.

OSI Systems' President and CEO, Ajay Mehra, commented, "We are seeing good momentum in our RF business and these awards reflect the investments we have made to support that growth through an expanded operational footprint and labor capacity. These awards underscore the value of our differentiated VLF and high frequency transmission technology, the expertise of the RF team, and we appreciate the opportunity to support future upgrades across critical communications infrastructure."
